Danial Lee Tudor

( April 12, 1954 - April 08, 2019 )

Danial Lee Tudor was born on April 12, 1954 in Tacoma, Washington and passed away on April 8, 2019 in Eatonville, Washington.

Danial was independent and hard-headed from a very early age. He was an adventurer, a tree-planter, a mountain man, and an innovator. A natural-born gear head, Dan appreciated the connection between man and machine and won many motocross and flat-track trophies. Throughout his life, Mr. Tudor was an enthusiast of fast boats, cars, and bikes, of which he owned many.

He spent time in Alaska working on the pipeline. He continued to hone his skills as a plumber, eventually becoming a plumbing foreman. After retirement, his favorite activities included riding motorcycles, fishing, shooting guns, burning rubber, and generally being a badass. He was active in the Cowlitz Fisheries Technical Committee and Ad-hoc Group where he made his voice heard, demanding accountability for the management of local Salmon populations.

Dan and his wife, Judy, owned and loved many dogs in their three and a half decades together. Survived by daughters Johanna, Sara, and Lynne, he was a proud grandfather to a handful of very fine human specimens. He was eager to pass on his fishing skills and old-school goodness to his lineage. He took great pleasure in witnessing the milestones in the lives of his children and grandchildren.

Dan was a big man with a big heart and he leaves a big empty space in the lives of those who love him. He will be remembered as a man’s man who was always ready to lend a hand, drop a clutch, throw a punch, or crack a joke.
